

No. Because we have been inundated with requests from third parties to promote their business or cause, we have had to implement a blanket policy that restricts promotions to only those pertaining to the market and its vendors. If you wish to become a vendor, please refer to the third paragraph above.