

Adventures in Herbs

Brenda Dills and son Jeffrey are the owners of Adventures in Herbs. The business was established in 1982 by Brenda's mother, Virginia Frazier, who had always grown her own herbs when the family lived in the mountains of North Carolina. She was an avid collector of heirloom seeds and plants of all kinds and passed that desire to acquire new and unusual plants on to Brenda. Brenda loves being able to share this product at the market. Some of her plants only have names by the location or name of the person who gave them to her. Her philosophy is "Sharing is a way to preserve the past for the future".
